Any information would be greatly received. Did you get the parts manual I linked you to. I can copy my operators manual if you want Cheers again. I have been told that mine is the same skid unit as the Ford 655c of the day, with electric shuttle and nonturbo 6610 engine. Great Exportations did me a windscreen a few years ago, any other parts filters etc I have got from NH dealer. The end broke off a steering ram and was a problem, it didnt look like the axle in the Ford parts book, I got a rosejoint off ebay and welded that on. And thats all I know. Mine has no drive at the moment, Im hoping it is an electrical problem not hydraulic or mechanical. I got a manual off ebay for the gearbox itself, but I dont yet have a pressure tester, and the book doesnt say much about the electrics Although there should be a plunger to stop this happening. I have a manual for the Ford gearbox, according to that there should be a plunger to prevent that happening. I guess its ok to scan a couple of pages and post them here if its any help, after all the OP did want to find out more about them Note plug no.1 here There should be a big button on the gear lever you press with your thumb, and that should declutch it. Also the left one, of the 3 similar pedals. This is the top of the gearbox The first Collins were International based Just showing its age after 30 years. I might know someone whod buy it if its 4wd. Did you get the parts manual I linked you to. Is there any chance you could send me a copy of your operators manual. I know very little about this machine and trying to find any info is quite difficult. thanksAntrim from developing into a major

There should be a photo available for every lot which is to be sold online. If such an issue including any dispute under Clause 20 remains in dispute after the auction it may be referred by the purchaser, the seller or the Auctioneers to arbitration or if the parties agree independent expert determination within the period of ten working days starting on the date of the sale by a person agreed between the parties in dispute or failing such agreement by a person appointed by the President of the Central Association of Agricultural Valuers on the application of any of the parties within that time paying such fee as may be charged for that service.

The parties agree to meet the professional fees and costs of that person as he shall direct and to be bound by his award both as the matter of the dispute and as to the parties' costs. The Auctioneers sell as agents for the vendor and as such are not responsible for any default of the vendor or purchaser. Any illustrations in catalogues are for general identification only. The Auctioneers shall not be liable for any breach by the vendor of this condition. That consent may be given on condition that the sale is booked through the Auctioneers' office subject to these conditions and in particular that any fee commission buyer's premium charge or expense due under the entry form or otherwise apply as though that Lot had been sold by auction at a hammer price equal to the priced agreed for the private sale. The Auctioneer does not carry out exhaustive due diligence on each Lot. The information supplied is not a representation of fact but a statement of opinion on the basis of the evidence available to them. Bidders acknowledge these points and accept responsibility for carrying out inspections and investigations to satisfy themselves as to the Lots in which they may be interested. Bidders, including the purchaser, acknowledge that Lots have generally been used and are of an age and type which means they are not in perfect condition. As such they may not comply with current health and safety legislation and may have faults not expressly referred to in the catalogue or the other information that may be available on individual Lots from the Auctioneers. The Auctioneers shall have no liability for the accuracy of the description of any Lot. Unless otherwise stated, no warranty is given by the Auctioneers to the purchaser in respect of any Lot and any express or implied conditions or warranties are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.

It is the purchaser's responsibility to check the Lot and ensure that its subsequent use is compliant and that identified health and safety concerns are rectified. Any Lot so described must have a key, control box, PTO shaft, starting handle, as appropriate. Where electrical equipment is sold without specific instructions for its use it is the responsibility of the purchaser to seek independent advice as to its safe operation. The Auctioneers shall have no liability for the safe operation of the item by the purchaser. If the vehicle or trailer is not roadworthy it is the purchaser's responsibility to ensure its removal from the saleground in a safe manner and if it is thereafter to be used on the road to put it into roadworthy condition.
